

NOT-FOR-PROFIT SERVICES

Focus on mission-driven projects and challenges, and let us handle your daily operational requirements.

Not-for-profit organizations are committed to their mission-driven work and the communities that they serve; nonetheless, daily operational requirements demand constant attention. The Sikich Not-for-Profit team is focused on serving the “business” side of your organization, so that you can devote your attention to your mission, donors, members, resources and sustainability with zero distractions.

Ultimately, we gauge our success by the strength of our clients. Our team is comprised of leaders who have dedicated their careers to improving, inspiring and preparing not-for-profit organizations for the future. We provide value by offering web-based learning opportunities, individualized training, complimentary client consultation and insight into evolving industry topics. At Sikich, our team serves 1,100+ not-for-profit clients backed by more than 20 industry leaders.

IMPROVING THE FUTURE FOR THE ORGANIZATIONS THAT MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Not-for-profit organizations face growth challenges, as they are often expected to do more with less funding. On top of that, compliance requirements, budgetary constraints, reputation management, talent attraction and retention weigh heavily on organizations. We understand the realities of those not-for-profits working to maintain a mission-centric outlook within stringent requirements. Sikich's not-for-profit professionals are attuned, involved and directly experienced in your industry.

At Sikich, our industry-focused engagement professionals and technical advisors strive to be leading national standard-setting bodies and state regulators. With a deeper understanding of your organization, changing policies and the challenges you face, Sikich partners with you to help you make smart financial decisions in the complex and evolving not-for-profit industry.

From audit, business advisory, and international and U.S. tax services, to compliance solutions that minimize the risks to your organization, lean on our team for efficient insights and expertise.
